October is National Bullying Prevention Month

October is National Bullying Prevention Month in the United States. Parents, teachers, and students are all encouraged to help raise awareness about bullying throughout October in the following ways:

- Remind your students or children about the importance of treating others with respect, and about not being the cause of others being sad.
- Talk to them about making sure that everyone has a friend and to check on students who are showing signs of stress—head down, crying, or sitting/playing by themselves.
- Remind them that bystanders have a duty to act if they witness bullying. They should stand up for the victim in a confident way, be a friend to the victim, or get help from an adult immediately.
